

CONGRESS THEME

TAXATION IN A GLOBAL ECONOMY

The increased international mobility of economic activity via FDI, trade, and migration has resulted in a tax environment that requires decision makers to consider their choices in a global context. In particular, the mobility of tax bases poses serious questions for the implementation of tax policy and the sustainability of public goods. These issues and more, including tax competition between governments, tax planning by firms, and potential cooperative solutions will be topics of discussion in the four plenary sessions. Submissions in all fields of public finance are welcome.

WELCOME TO DUBLIN IN 2015

It is our pleasure to invite you to the 71st Annual Congress of the International Institute of Public Finance (IIPF 2015), held in Trinity College, Dublin, on August 20 – 23, 2015.

Situated on Ireland's East Coast, the capital city of Dublin resides at the mouth of the River Liffey. Established by the Vikings over a thousand years ago, it has developed through the centuries to gradually become the most important commercial and cultural centre in Ireland. Dublin is a sophisticated metropolis widely acknowledged as one of Europe's loveliest and liveliest capital cities. As an eclectic modern capital city, Dublin provides the tradition you would expect alongside an exciting cosmopolitan aspect - this fusion of the old and the new makes Dublin both exciting and unique. Besides its many museums, libraries, historic castles and Georgian squares, Dublin has a love affair with music and literature which can be experienced in the many pubs, theatres, galleries and clubs throughout the city.

A city that invites you into its heart, a city comfortable to explore and a city with a contagious energy, Dublin looks forward to welcoming you in August 2015.

IIPF

The International Institute of Public Finance (IIPF) is the world organization of public finance economists and has 800 members from over 50 countries. In an increasingly specialized academic field, the IIPF seeks to generate intellectual interchanges among public finance experts.

The Institute's annual congress is the main forum for its activities, which include organizing academic events, promoting the exchange of knowledge between academics and practitioners of all nationalities, and awarding prizes for outstanding academic achievements.

The congress also provides an opportunity for the IIPF governing bodies to convene (Board of Management, General Assembly of Members). The IIPF is currently administered by an Executive Committee consisting of President Michael P. Devereux (University of Oxford, UK) and the two Vice Presidents Joel Slemrod (University of Michigan, USA) and Clemens Fuest (ZEW Mannheim, DE). The legal and administrative seat of the non-profit organization IIPF is in Munich, Germany.

Further information is available at www.iipf.org
